Our cadre is a highly credentialed and heavily vetted group of professionals from the special operations military, law enforcement, fire and rescue, and civilian training sectors who have dedicated their lives to serving, and more importantly, preparing the public and others to prevail.

We recognize that the first person capable of acting is the true “first responder,” and having a prepared and willing population is one of the bedrocks of our great nation. Because of this, 88 Tactical offers an unrivaled broad range of instruction in firearms, self-defense, anti-bullying, combat fitness, self-rescue, field medicine, bushcraft and survival, and other tactical disciplines.

COURSE DETAILS

High Threat CQB is paradigm shift in tactics based on human behavior that provides both an offensive and defensive advantage. It makes use of adjustable speed, limited penetration, focused entry, and high survivability tactics that are based on worst-case combatants as a default. It is a battle proven, hybrid American-Israeli system that is significantly different from the “conventional” dynamic method.

This course takes what has been recorded in actual CQB engagements and develops tactics, techniques and procedures that allow operators to fight an opponent without having to fight their own instincts and intuitions. It is heavily interactive with focus on safely moving and shooting around fellow operators and third parties, use of force and tactical decision making, and maintaining the option to press forward or contain threats without becoming a close range battle of attrition.
